the Executives and Faculty, will be represented in this section of the Cauldron. The superintendent and the school board, consisting of three members, constitute the ruling body of the Frankfort school system. Mr. Condon, the principal, is new to our school plant this year. He is ably assisted by Mr. Warren and Mr. Zieg.

Our faculty consists of forty-two teachers well trained in the fundamentals of education. The heads of departments in Frankfort High School are the following: Art department, Miss Harriett Gallup; Commercial department, Miss Irene Carfield; English department, Miss Hattie Campbell; History department, Mr. Easdale Pickett; Home Economics department, Miss Mary Reid; Industrial department, Mr. Ross Blunk; Language department, Mrs. Oma Heaton; Math department, Miss Della Maud Sanders; Music Supervisor, Miss Inez Nixon; Boys' Physical Education, Mr. Everett Case; Girls' Physical Education, Miss Jane Caton; and the Science department, Mr. E. O. Hanger. The Librarian for the High School is Miss Georgia Moore. We are fortunate in having a School Nurse. She is Miss Helen Underwood, who is also head of the Junior Red Cross.

The students should feel indebted to the faculty for the excellent training they receive under their direction.

You THE SCHOOL BOARD

The Board of School Trustees consists of three members: Mr. Walter Aughe, president; Mr. Frederick Petty, secretary, and Mr. Clayton Cook, treasurer, who is the new member this year.

Mr. M. N. O'Bannon, the superintendent, has been in the school system five years. He and the members of the school board devote much time and effort in conducting and adjusting the many important problems which confront them throughout the year.

September 4, 1939, saw the installment of Mr. A. E. Condon as principal of Frankfort High School. Mr. Condon has an excellent record as principal of northern Indiana high schools and superintendent of Lake county schools for sixteen years. He has degrees from Indiana and eastern universities and is well known in educational circles in the state of Indiana.

You THE EXECUTIVES

Mr. Warren is the assistant principal. The N. Y. A. work for the school is under his supervision and direction. Mr. Zieg is in charge of the guidance department, which is a comparatively new department in F. H. S. Students can obtain great assistance in studying occupational fields to determine where their ability and interest lie.

SYMBOLIC OF SENIORS
. THE CAP AND GOWN.

CLASS DIVISION

YOU, who are the students of Frankfort High School, will have this section of the 1940 Cauldron dedicated to you.

For the seniors "Life Begins at Forty." The seniors will leave Frankfort High School with a mixture of feelings; sadness at leaving behind the carefree days of their youth, and the thrill of beginning new adventures. Many of them will continue education in the various colleges and universities scattered over the country. The vast majority of seniors will seek jobs in offices, factories, stores, and other fields of occupation. The senior class this year is one to be commended, and as they go out into the world we hope they will continue on the high standard they set in High School.

As one class graduates, another class moves in to take their place. Juniors, sophomores, freshmen, and eighth graders constitute the enrollment of underclassmen. All the classes are organized. None of the classes are active as organized units, except the junior class, which sponsors the annual junior prom in the spring. Each class is entitled to a class party each year.

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1940

I am the spirit of Frankfort High.

I am the life of this school. Those dead looking grey walls, those solid red bricks, they're part of me.

Year after year I am carried into the world by departing graduates. Yet every year I am born anew in the hearts of those who rise to fill the classrooms . . . I am the spirit of Frankfort High.

In the spring of 1936 there came the usual happy, boisterous, but promising group. They soon proved to be no ordinary group, and by the end of September had organized their class, with Phyllis Johnson, James Stinson and Jean Rowe serving as officers.

The first semester was a busy one. Building of Science Hall was progressing, and with the coming of the second term the freshmen biology class moved into the new building. That last half of freshmen year will live on in — the "Big Broadcast," "White Hussars," Band Fair, spring vacation, choosing a king and queen for F. H. S. Then, on May 29 — vacation! Three glorious months of freedom ahead, to be followed by the return to school as sophomores.

Upon returning in September the new sophomore class elected for class officers: Meuris

Smith, president; Jean Rowe, vice-president; Johnnie Griffey, secretary; and Ethel Ford, treasurer.

Nineteen thirty-seven and thirty-eight proved to be very progressive years for the sophomore class. Members of the class helped in choosing a school crest, and in obtaining and equipping a recreation room, there the class held their first party for the year, on Hallowe'en.

Later, many members of the class participated in the second annual High Life banquet, the prom, and the F. Club blanket hop. Before the class of '40 was aware of it, another year of school had ended.

Opening day next September found the class marching back to the campus. End of the month found Jack Fickle, president of the class; Jack Harshman, vice-president; Joe Bill Lockwood, secretary, and Meuris Smith, treasurer. Jean Rowe was vice-president of the Student Council.

As Hallowe'en rolled around, four class members, Phyllis Johnson, Helen Wood, Jack Fickle, and Bill Siffin, attended the National Scholastic Press Convention in Indianapolis.

Miss Doris Knox, and President Fickle, started plans for the class's big event of the year—the Junior-Senior Prom. Committees were chosen and the work began.

February saw nine members of the class enrolled in the National Honor Society. The lucky juniors were Donna Budd, Jeanne Daywitt, Martha Faust, Phyllis Johnson, Joe Bill Lockwood, Meuris Smith, Joe Bill Sibbitt, Jean Rowe, and Bill Siffin.

The junior party, held the same month, took a novel turn. The class held the party in a local skating rink, and a rousing good time they had. Spirited fellows, those juniors.

That spirit held good in March, when Frankfort's Fighting Five, led by Jim Laughner, a junior, went from sectional through to state, to snatch the title for the fourth time.

Activities of the year included the Forum trial and banquet, the first annual Hi-Y father and son banquet, the first Blue and White Day, and, for a second time in their years at F. H. S., a championship basketball team.

September, 1939, rolled around. School opened. The class of 1940, the seniors, took their places at the head of the student body. Officers of the year: president, Jack Harshman; vice-president, Johnnie Griffey; secretary, Donna Budd; treasurer, held a pow-wow to select candidates for class sponsor. The members of the class elected Miss Della Maud Sanders, head of the mathematics department and Math Club.

The first job was choosing of a Cauldron staff. To Billie Jean Nees went the honor—and work—of editor-in-chief. Joe Hazelwood and Rex Nees were made business managers. James Paul Gaddis, sales manager, and his sales staff, set a record when they sold 865 year-books by February seventh.

From September to January the school was a succession of photographers, flash bulbs, cameras, and what have you. The reason: Cauldron pictures.

The year was a hurried jumble of memories. The football team was outstanding. It was headed by seniors. The basketball team almost “went to state.” It was led by Laughner, Stinson, Waddell—all seniors. The pep sessions were the most unusual, bizarre, and distinctive ever held in Howard Hall. A member of the class of '40 was at the root of it—Joe Hazelwood. Joe Bill Lockwood, Student Council president, helped plan, institute, and execute the “cadet” system. In clubs, activities, scholarship, and leadership, the senior class excelled.

There were all the activities of the last semester. Time flew . . . Class Day, baccalaureate, Sallie Byers, then, COMMENCEMENT! . . . a room full of graduates taking a last look at their classmates, their teachers, and their school.

The class of '40 has passed on into the world. With it goes a feeling of joy, sorrow, pride, love—and the Spirit of Frankfort High lives on.

ACTIVITIES DIVISION

YOU, the students, are fortunate in having such a wide variety of extra-curricular activities. Nearly every department in the school sponsors some club to promote interest in their particular field. The Latin Club, the Math Club, the Forum Club, the Forensic Club, the G. A. A., the F. Club, the Staccato Club and the Home Economics Club are clubs of this type. The Sunshine Society, a girls' club, and the Hi-Y, a boys' club, are similar in the fact that their purpose is to promote higher ideals of womanhood and manhood. The Junior Red Cross is a newly organized club that works in connection with the National Red Cross. Although the Band, Orchestra, and Choir are regular subjects in the school, they are extra-curricular activities in some respects. All the classes are represented in one student governing body known as the Student Council. The Council was very active this year in establishing a student "cadet" system. A certain percent of the students in the Junior and Senior classes who have been the most active in extra-curricular affairs and have high standards in scholarship and character are elected to membership in the National Honor Society.

You

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council is the student government body of Frankfort High School. It is divided into two groups: the Prefect Council, consisting of five seniors, four juniors, three sophomores, two freshmen, and one eighth grader; and the Advisory Council, made up of all class presidents and home room presidents. The purpose of the organization is to aid the principal and faculty in developing leadership, scholarship, character, and service among the student body.

The officers this year were Joe Bill Lockwood, president; Bob Spray, vice-president; and Joe Bill Sibbitt, secretary-treasurer. Miss Hinman sponsored the organization.

You

THE NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

To be elected to the National Honor Society is the greatest honor to be bestowed upon a student of Frankfort High School. Students are voted in by a committee consisting of faculty members. Eligibility to the society consists of being in the upper third of your class and also having high standards in leadership, character, and service. The society entertains itself with a monthly luncheon. Officers for this year were Joe Sibbitt, president; Donna Budd, vice-president; Phyllis Johnson, secretary; and Joe Lockwood, treasurer. Miss Verda Knox is the sponsor of the society.

You

THE HI-Y CLUB

Under the sponsorship of Mr. Redmon, principal of Kyger grade school, the Hi-Y Club has grown to be one of the most efficient and active organizations of the school. As stated on the membership card which every member carries, the purpose of the club is to promote and extend high standards of Christian character and service to the community. Sophomores, juniors, and seniors are eligible for membership. Aside from running the refreshment stand at Stott Field, one of the chief activities of the club was to sponsor a Father and Son banquet. The fellow who wielded the gavel this year was John Griffey. James Tedford was vice-president. Joe Hazelwood and Robert Peterson were secretary and treasurer, respectively.

THE A BAND

The band is formed to teach appreciation of music and to serve as a unit of entertainment.

In 1924 the band was started by Mr. Thomas, and it has met regularly ever since. Each year until last year it was entered in state and national competition. This year it played for Band Recognition Day at Butler University, and plans are progressing for a trip to the Tulip Day Festival at Holland, Michigan.

The present band has progressed rapidly. Composed of about eighty-five members, it has a well-balanced instrumentation. Prospects for the future are very good.

You

THE B BAND

New students entering band work enroll in the B band. Here they are taught fundamentals necessary to form a good A band. Scales, sight-reading, tone rhythm, musical terms, and the counting of time are emphasized.

This organization of forty-nine members is directed by Mr. Thomas. It has good instrumentation, and is fairly well balanced.

Many students enter this class when they enter high school. They have been prepared by work in the various grade schools.

The fundamental of this band is to prepare students for entering the advanced band.

You

THE HIGH SCHOOL ORCHESTRA

The High School Orchestra, composed of sixty members, made several public appearances during the school year. It has studied and rehearsed a large amount of music from the Symphony Orchestra Repertoire.

The purpose of the Orchestra Department is to acquaint its students with good music such as symphonies, overtures, suites, etc., not only to improve their skill as instrumental performers, but also to endow them with the sense of appreciation of good music.

Furthermore, much time is spent in practice of string orchestra arrangements by the string sections, and in the study of fundamentals of directing by the student directors.

You

THE STRING ENSEMBLES

The string players of the orchestra are broken up into many small ensembles and each group rehearses once a week. The purpose of the ensemble training is two-fold. First, it develops better orchestra players, as each musician is dependent upon himself and thus develops self-confidence. Second, it furnishes small groups which are able to provide programs for civic functions throughout the city. The Ensemble and String Quartet pictured have played for many church and club programs in the city this year in addition to out-of-town engagements.

Staccato suggests music even to one untrained in music, and the Staccato Club is a music club for girls, sponsored by Miss Nixon. Its purpose is to develop music appreciation in the school and community. In order to be eligible to the select membership of thirty-five girls, one must be enrolled in a music class at school. The club sponsors various music programs during the year. Its social activity is an annual spring formal dance. Its officers for the year were: Virginia Rapp, president; Mary Lou Thatcher, vice-president; Donna Budd, treasurer; and Julia Moore, secretary.

You

THE CHOIR

Students in advanced choral work are assembled into the High School Choir. Miss Nixon, the director, makes the selection of voices. For the first time the choir has had a special school period for its practices. It tends toward the development of advanced choral singing. THE FORUM

With an annual banquet for alumni members as its big social function, the Form Club is one of the more progressive organizations of the school. You

THE FORENSIC CLUB

To promote interest and give knowledge in parliamentary law is the object of the Forensic Club, sponsored by Mr. Hampton. The club's membership was fifty.

Two awards, the Indiana Banner and the new Forensic Scholastic Award, were presented to the most outstanding students of the eighth and ninth grades at the end of each semester. Candy sales after school provided the money for these projects. The annual alumni banquet and dance was held on February 15.

Officers were as follows: Martha Faust, president; Helen Michael, vice-president; Helen Kern, secretary; and William McMurtrey, treasurer.

You

THE G. A. A.

Frankfort High School is noted for its boys' athletics, but it also provides similar activities for girls. The Girls' Athletic Association heads these activities. Any girl in High School is eligible for membership, providing she will uphold the purpose of the club — the building of healthy bodies and minds.

The girls, led by Paulita Weaver, president; Betty Jo Zerfas, vice-president; Blanche Glover, treasurer; and Jeanette Elliott, secretary; find many happy hours in battles between their different teams in hockey, socker, volleyball, and other such sports. Miss Jane Caton and Miss Sally Foster act as sponsors for the club.

You

THE F CLUB

"A real fighter never has breath enough to say, 'I quit,'" is the motto of the F Club. Entrance is only granted to those holding a major award in one of Frankfort's three competitive sports—basketball, football, or track. The purpose of this club is thus: to promote higher standards of athletics in F. H. S. Chief activity of the club, and one which makes it popular with the student body, is the sponsorship of the Big Broadcast every spring. Since it is an athletic club, it is co-sponsored by our football coach, "Buck" Rohrbaugh, and our basketball coach, Mr. Case. This year Russell Goodnight was president and Charles Shanklin was vice-president. Ellis Good was secretary-treasurer and Leland Hawkins was sergeant-at-arms.

BASKETBALL-KING OF SPORTS IN F.H.S.

ATHLETIC DIVISION

YOU in the Athletic Department have the responsibility of guiding the development of strong, healthy bodies among the students. Also the athletic contests help in developing good sportsmanship among students. Miss Jane Caton and Miss Sallie Foster have charge of the girls' physical education classes. A variety of games are played by the girls in their classes, such as volley ball, soccer, hockey, and girls' basketball. Ping-pong, shuffle board, and archery are given to girls who participate in the less strenuous exercises.

When athletics are mentioned in connection with F. H. S., one just automatically thinks of basketball; but basketball is just one of many sports open to students. Perhaps the main sports in F. H. S. are basketball, football, and track. Golf, tennis, volley ball, and tumbling are also included in the athletic program. Mr. Everett Case is in charge of the boys' athletics in Frankfort High School. Other faculty members include Mr. Rohrabaugh, Mr. Farrell, Mr. Anderson, and Mr. Ronzone.

Four years of physical education is a requirement for graduation in Frankfort High School.

COACHING STAFF - FRANKFORT HIGH SCHOOL

You THE VARSITY SQUAD

The 1939 football squad turned in by far the best season of any Nighthawk eleven in the last ten years. Although the records show only four wins in eight starts, the defeat of Jeff of Lafayette and Anderson—hitherto invincible—more than made up for the deficits on the season's ledger. The Hawks finished the season with a 500% N. C. C. rating—highest in F. H. S. annals.

The outstanding battle of the year took place on Stott Field as an unprecedented throng watched the local eleven hold Kokomo's undefeated powerhouse to a twelve-point margin.

In a post season encounter the local squad journeyed to Tennessee where they met defeat at the hands of a strong Knoxville High aggregation.

Graduation will take twelve of Coach Raymond "Buck" Rohrbaugh's first string Nighthawks.

FRESHMAN SQUAD

Since graduation takes a heavy toll of varsity men this year, the '39 freshman team may supply material for a number of the vacancies. Coming up from the green squad for probable backfield duty will be Stine, Hutchison, Aaron and Kennedy. Others, who may see action with the varsity line, are Oster, Strausburg, and Wilson. Although the recruits are inexperienced, they have been well drilled in the fundamentals.

Coach Anderson, freshman mentor, announced that he had some promising candidates in a few eighth grade stalwarts.

This year's freshman eleven won two, lost two, and tied one.

You

The varsity squad had a score of outstanding stars this year. While the majority of stars came from the senior class, several underclassmen played on the first string.

The seniors included Russell Goodnight and William Carter as co-captains; William Buchanan, right guard; Garth Miller, guard; Ellis Good, tackle; Leland Hawkins, end; Charles Shanklin, backfield; Ralph Beavers, tackle; Meuris Smith, halfback; Donald Brandon, fullback; Charles McCreary, backfield; and Kenneth Reynolds, backfield. Charles Marks, a hard-driving back, will be a great help next year. A player who has a year of varsity playing ahead of him is Paul Hutchison, end, and one who has two years of varsity playing ahead of him is Ted Hazelwood, end.

OF THE GIRLS ATHLETICS

"All work and no play makes Jill a dull girl"—so, Jill goes out for hockey, soccer, volley ball, archery, and other sports offered in the Frankfort gym classes.

Classes meet at every period during the day and extra-curricular activity is offered after school to help develop physical strength and the ability to get along with other people in recreation.

Volley ball, a favorite game with many of the girls, is the main sport during the cold weather. A tournament was held between the classes this year for the first time. The competition was great, and the winning team, shown on the opposite page, had to battle to the finish. This created much interest and enthusiasm.

When the sun shines and the air is fresh and inviting, the girls don their warm clothing and go out to the track. Here they enjoy the invigorating games of soccer, hockey, base ball, and relay games.

An activity which provides variety for the girls and develops skill in marksmanship is archery. This is the less strenuous type of exercise.

Examples of the various sports described are shown in these pictures.

OF THE TRACK TEAM

Again, as in the past, Frankfort's track squad was one of the best in the state.

Under the capable coaching of Matthew Ronzone and Carl Anderson, the thinly clads showed remarkable skill in several events.

The cinder lads represented the local high in the Southport and Delphi relays, the Big Ten, the sectional, and the state meets. Along with these the squad held dual meets with Plainfield, West Lafayette, Jeff of Lafayette, and Logansport.

The annual Central Indiana Track Meet was held at night under the giant flood lights on Case Field. As is customary, a queen for the evening was chosen from the high school to present ribbons to winners.

Smith's sprinting ability along with Mark's pole-vaulting and Hazelwood's shot-putting made the aggregation a strong contestant in any meet. The hurdling of Sullivan plus McCoy's dash and Sibbitt's relay work also helped to bring the track team up to expectancy. Other performers gave their time and energy in making the squad outstanding.

OF THE B BASKETBALL TEAM

Showing improvement in each game they played, Larry Farrell's Pups battled their way through a difficult season to win fourteen of twenty-two contests.

The B-team conquered most of its Big Ten opponents and defeated the varsities of three small schools. In a "B" tourney at Southport the Puppies scrapped their way into the finals.

The large squad consisted of willing workers all of whom were sophomores with little experience.

Billy Zobrist, hard driving guard, was certified for tourney play with the varsity. Several other outstanding "B" players will be moved to the varsity bench next fall. Remaining members of this year's aggregation plus the promoted Freshman team will compose next year's quintet.

BASKETBALL

JUNIOR HIGH BASKETBALL

Matty Ronzone's Jr. High cagers established an enviable season's record, losing only four games in twenty-one starts.

Several valuable players will be lost by promotion to the freshman squad. Outstanding on the 1939-40 team were Taylor and Carney the first semester, and Mincemoyer, Whitmore, Braden and Gosewehr the second. However, a number of promising players fresh from the grade school hardwood wars will be available for the Ronzone team next fall.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL TEAM

This year's Freshman team, averaging 5' 10" in height, closed a successful season, winning seventeen of twenty games. The three losses were to conference foes.

Charles Stine, captain center, connected with 179 points in 19 games to lead the scoring, and with Billy Nunnally, guard, was moved to the varsity bench at tourney time.

Carl Anderson, freshman coach, made awards to the players at a special convocation.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Development of an almost entirely new team was the job which Coach Case faced for the 1939-40 season. Only two members of the championship squad were left after graduation last spring, those being James Laughner and Jim Stinson.

From out of the remains merged a quintet which managed to win half of its regular scheduled games. Although lacking greatly in experience, the boys showed good spirit, attitude, and worked incessantly.

Highlights of the season were twin victories over Logansport, the snapping of undefeated Lebanon's chain of wins, and the overtime victory at Kokomo.

Alvin Laughner

Robert Henderson

Fred McCoy

Herbert Webb

Unusually tough county fives made the Hot Dogs battle to keep their sectional crown. In the regional held at Lafayette the Fighting Five was overpowered by Jeff for the third time this season. It was the first time in 19 years that the Broncos defeated Frankfort in regional tourney play.

Graduation will take only a small toll of players this year. Capt. James Laughner, Stinson, McCoy, and Waddell will be lost while Henderson, Webb, A. Laughner, and Witsman will each have another year. Both Hazelwood and Unroe, regular guards, have two more years with the varsity.

During the spring extensive practice sessions were held by Coach Case. Prospects for next year look bright.
